

RECOMMENDS LEGISLATURE START AN INVESTIGATION

STEPHENSON INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE FILES ITS RESULTS WITH GOVERNOR.

WANT STEPHENSON REMOVED

Certified Copy Should Go to Washington So That It May Be Investigated.

Madison, Jan. 11.—The long looked for report of the senate committee of the 1909 legislature has been filed with the governor today. It is a report of the committee on the impeachment of Governor Stephenson.

The committee consisted of Marsh, Hastings and Morris and they have been making a most exhaustive investigation, their report covering the entire pre-history as well as the actual voting during the session of the legislature before Stephenson was elected, after weeks of delay on the part of the legislature.

The committee's report is very lengthy and among the recommendations made to the governor for his consideration, is that a certified copy of this report be sent to the United States senate at Washington that they may take appropriate action.

This is along the line of having an investigation instituted at Washington along the same lines as the Lorimer case, with a view, perhaps, of having the matter taken up in a similar manner.

The committee's report in brief finds: "That frauds contributed directly to Senator Stephenson's election by the legislature; that under the laws of the state, the election of a person through bribery or any attempt at bribery, should be declared null and void."

"The committee recommends that a copy of its report be sent to Washington, after being certified by the governor and state legislature, to the United States senate with the request that that body investigate the manner and means through which Senator Stephenson secured his election to the United States senate."

"The report also recommends that the legislature bring about legislation to prevent a recurrence of the corrupt practices in the state. It is also recommended that a copy of the report with the evidence secured be placed in the hands of the district attorney of Dane county for such action as he sees fit."

"A copy, it is also suggested, be given to the attorney general and that he be instructed to cause suits to be commenced in the proper counties of the state, against all persons shown by the evidence to have been guilty of corrupt practices or bribery in connection with Stephenson's election."

"The report consists of thirty thousand words. It is most exhaustive and goes into details not touched upon in the legislative examination during the session of the last legislature."

The committee charges Senator Stephenson with violation of the statute requiring an accounting of campaign expenses, alleges that he contributed money for the election of legislative candidates outside his own district and that he gave money to the then president of the board of control.

That he gave money to a supporter of McGovern for opposing that senatorial candidate, such supporter later voting for Stephenson and that large sums were paid others to secure votes for him.

Senator Stephenson's majority on election was three and during the final voting, it is charged, three demagogues walked out, thus forfeiting their vote on that ballot.

DELANVAN SCHOOL GETS FINE GIFTS

Museum at Deaf School Enlarged By Collection of Animals from Smithsonian Institute—And Curious From Friend.

Delavan, Wis., Jan. 11.—The museum of the Wisconsin free school for the deaf at Delavan has been enriched by two pretentious gifts, one from the United States government and the other from a friend of the institution authorities. Through the influence of Congressman Henry Allen Cooper, the Smithsonian Institute at Washington has contributed twenty-five magnificent specimens of animals, mounted, including mammals of extreme rarity.

Dr. E. A. Hennin of Delavan has made a gift of his extensive collection of curios and relics, gathered on tours of the world to the museum. He recently sold his lake shore home here and refused several fine offers for his collection, preferring to give it to the state school.

Probably the finest piece of mural decoration in any institution or school in Wisconsin is that placed in the assembly hall of the school for deaf. It measures twenty-one by seven feet and represents a Sylvan scene. In the foreground are symbolic figures depicting the four stages of life: The Youth, the Maiden, Father and Mother, and Old Age. These will be set so as to form exhibition spaces and they will be grouped together and connected by a series of beams which will increase the massiveness of the scheme. Topping off this structural arrangement will be a series of ten, twenty and forty foot arches, outlined in incandescent lamps and giving the whole the appearance of a brilliantly illuminated arcade. WEST VIRGINIA TO ELECT 2 SENATORS

Lively Contest Promised In Legislature Over Selection Of Successors To Scott and Ekins.

Charleston, W. Va., Jan. 11.—The spirited contest among the Democratic leaders of West Virginia for the two seats in the United States senate promised to make the legislative session which began here today one of the most interesting in many years. In addition to choosing a successor to Senator Nathan B. Reelt, whose term will expire next March, the legislature is called upon to choose another to fill the seat made vacant by the recent death of Senator Stephen B. Ekins.

The interest is increased by the vast amount of uncertainty that attends the results of the contests. The democratic victory in November was something of a surprise and the senatorial aspirants for Scott's seat were obliged to enter the race on short notice, with little time to perfect their organizations and plan their campaigns. The death of Senator Ekins one week before the legislature convened, making it necessary to elect two senators instead of one, added to the complications of the situation.

There are more than half a dozen candidates for the two seats and nearly all of them are conducting active campaigns. With the organization of the legislature it is predicted that combilations among the candidates are likely to be effected and that eventually the field will narrow down to three or four entries.

The prominent candidates include Clarence W. Watson, a wealthy Fairmont coal operator; Colonel John T. McGraw, former mayor of West Virginia; John J. Cornwell, an editor of Romney; Colonel W. E. Chilton of Charleston; Lawrence Tierney, a coal operator of Wheeling; and Andrew Edmiston of Weston. Judge Lewis T. Miller of Parkersburg, Judge James H. Miller of Hinton and one or two others also have been mentioned, but these are not expected to figure prominently in the contest.

Clarence W. Watson and Colonel John T. McGraw are generally regarded as the leading candidates. Watson is believed to have scored an advantage by being the first to enter the race, while his wealth and political ability are counted upon to keep him well to the front. McGraw has had more experience in politics and enjoys a wider acquaintance among the rank and file of the party throughout the state. Those who are urging his candidacy for one of the senatorships point to his many years' service to his party as national committeeman and argue that he is entitled to a seat in the senate as his reward.

John Cornwell also is regarded as an important factor in the contest. He is probably more popular among the people at large than any of the other candidates and if the matter were submitted to a primary vote he undoubtedly would be a winner. Andrew Edmiston, another of the candidates, has been a prominent party man for years. He was chairman of the state committee for twelve years and is highly regarded personally. Lawrence E. Tierney, another of the active candidates, has hardly as much prominence as Edmiston, but may have more votes.

TARIFF DELEGATES ASSEMBLED TODAY IN NAT'L CAPITOL

National Body Began Its Work Of Solution Of Tariff Problems, In New Willard Hotel, Washington.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 11.—Scores of delegates, some of them appointed by the governors of the various states and many others representing trade bodies and commercial organizations in every section of the country, were on hand today at the opening of the National Tariff Commission convention at the New Willard Hotel.

The National Tariff Commission Association, under whose auspices the convention meets, is an affiliation of nearly one hundred commercial and industrial organizations of the country banded together to conduct an organized campaign for the creation by Congress of a permanent tariff commission.

A permanent, bi-partisan commission of tariff experts is sought by the association as the best solution of the tariff question. This commission is not to fix rates, but to act as advisers and recommenders to Congress. The members are to serve constantly, the same as other government bureaus, and it is part of the program, to take up only one section of the tariff at a time, so that the business world need feel no apprehensions that radical and general changes in rates are to be made at any time.

President Taft has publicly stated his entire approval of the permanent tariff commission plan and is expected to endorse his views on the subject when he speaks at the banquet which will bring the convention to a close tomorrow night. At the several sessions of the convention the speakers will include Senator Cummings of Iowa, Senator Borah of Indiana, Representative Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, President Shuman of Cornell University, and Allen Ripley, Foote of Columbus, Ohio.

The Skin and Not the Blood.

Until recently it has been a generally accepted proposition that eczema was a disease of the blood, and that in order to cure it, the blood must be purified and enriched by internal remedies. Careful experiments and scientific investigations have taught us that eczema is purely a skin disease, and curable through the skin alone. A great majority of persons afflicted with eczema have no other ailment, which is accepted as positive proof that it is purely a skin disease. Having established this fact, the chemists of the American Drug and Prescription Association set about to compound a prescription that would successfully cope with this disease, and after much investigating brought out Mordell Eczema Remedy, the effect of which is marvelous. If you are afflicted with this loathsome disease, do not delay trying Mordell Eczema Remedy. You will be surprised at its prompt action, its soothing effect and its permanent results. Reliable Drug Co. are commissioned by the association to sell it in Janesville.

HONDURAS TO GET LOAN OF MILLIONS

American Banks to Supply Cash For Refunding Debt.

CUSTOMS DUTIES AS SECURITY

Treaty Signed by Secretary Knox and Gen. Juan E. Paredes Will Not Be Made Public Until It Has Been Ratified.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Secretary of State Knox and Gen. Juan E. Paredes, special minister from Honduras, signed a convention providing for the negotiation of a loan by American bankers to the government of Honduras. The loan is for the purpose of refunding the debt of the republic, which amounts to slightly more than $10,000,000. The text of the treaty will not be made public until the senate has ratified it. The treaty will also have to be ratified by the congress of Honduras, which is now in session.

Negotiations for refunding the debt of Honduras have been in progress for more than a year. Most of the creditors are British. The interest on the bonds is in arrears. The proposed loan will amount to $10,000,000, to be secured by the customs revenues of Honduras. A part of the customs will be sequestered annually and applied toward the redemption of the bonds. The details of the refunding have been handled by an American banking syndicate. While Mr. Knox favors the creation of a local protectorate over Honduras similar to that in Santo Domingo under which the customs of that country have been collected, he realized that the senate is opposed to the collection of the customs revenues of a foreign government under the auspices of the United States.

Under the present convention it is said a representative of the banking syndicate furnishing the money will regularly supervise the collection of the customs of Honduras.

Industrial Education.

Industrial education shows a healthy growth in the United States, and it means much to the future of the country. When we teach boys and girls how to work with their hands and their brains we are providing them means of a livelihood. Such a result can be of far-reaching importance.

Triumphant Ugly Women.

Successful women were not always of irreproachable beauty or modeling. Thus, the Princess of Egypt of Louis XV's time was one-eyed, the silt of Montepan's mouth reached her ears, Mme. de Maintenon was thin, meager and yellowish.—Hindustan Review.

FILES SUIT ASKING VERY HEAVY DAMAGES

La Follette, Indiana Man Wants Fifty Thousand Dollars for Seduction of His Daughter.

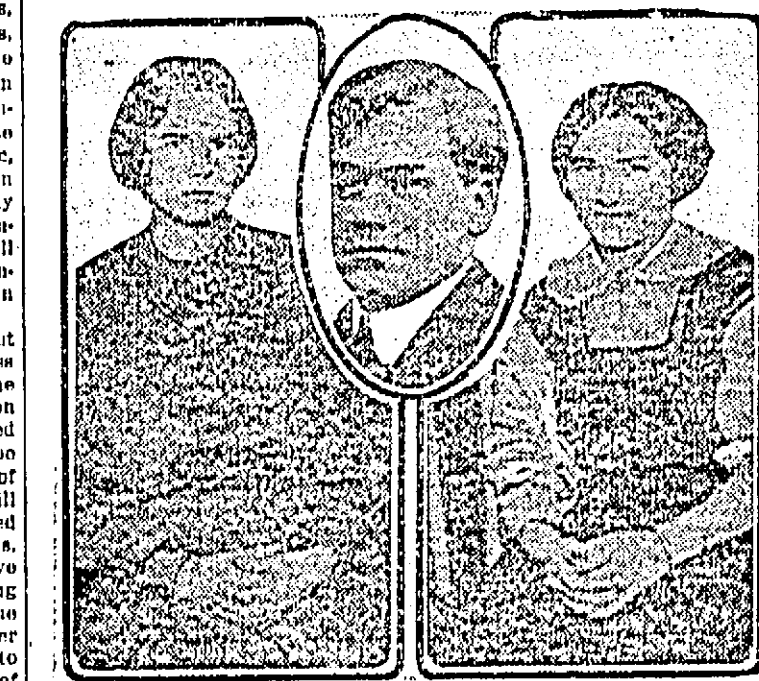

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 11.—George E. Danner of La Fayette, Indiana today filed a suit against Evelyn Arthur See, "traveller" or "absolute life" cult, and Mrs. Stephen Bridges, one of his foremost disciples, for fifty thousand dollars damages, charging the seduction of his daughter, aged 17.

In the midst of Chicago's busy district is a new cult or "colony" known as the "Junior Commonwealth," to which residents and authorities took exception and disapproved. The new "traveller of the Will of God," is a cult which appeals to children—girls especially.

The founder of the institution calls himself Evelyn Arthur See. He lives at 2541 Racine avenue, Chicago. He is the spirit of the Junior Commonwealth.

From among twenty children now undergoing a process of "purification" and "ordination" under See's tutelage.

EVELYN ARTHUR SEE, founder of new doctrine of the "absolute life" and two of the girls selected to be mothers of a new race. At left, Mildred Bridges. At right, Mona Reed.

at a nearby basement—2608 Racine avenue—a new race is to be born, a race which will possess the earth, be free from the ills of cash, and in which there will be no evil.

Mona Reed, a young girl, who for four years has practiced a system of penance and self-abnegation to the extent that she now is declared to be absolutely "pure," is to be the first mother of the perfect race.

This is the prophecy of See, who every day gathers to the "commonwealth" in the basement some of the children of the neighborhood. From these he expects to bring to the world the new race.

Boys and girls ranging from 3 to 25 years of age are under See's care. In the minds of each he inculcated the principles of "absolute life," a philosophy he claims has been given to him by "revelation visions."

These children are to be purified by a slow process of training. According to See, his teachings will drive anger, jealousy, malice, hatred, envy, and every species of selfishness from the personalities of his students. As the instruction progresses they will be given "perfect spiritual types." As they grow in years they naturally will be drawn toward each other and will wed. Their progeny will have no evil in them.

CLINTON.

Clinton, Jan. 11.—M. J. Stevon returned Sunday from Oregon where he has been looking after his ranch.

E. B. Hawley is in Chicago on business.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jacobson, yesterday morning about one o'clock, a baby girl.

One of the trains being late, Miss Dorothy Tuttle did not get home from Beloit via Janesville, Monday morning, until about eleven o'clock.

Miss Ruth Stoney taught Miss Tuttle's grade at the school.

Clinton certainly has the most disreputable and unsafe mail box imaginable outside the postoffice. It is but little better than a tin box and can be lifted up and carried off at will. The patrons of the office who use the box after the office is closed, are certainly entitled to a box which will be a reasonable protection to their mail.

The Twentieth Century club spent last night with Mrs. W. P. Woodson.

Mrs. Thos. A. Ames is a victim of a gripe.

W. H. Jordan returned Saturday from Chicago where he has been visiting his daughter.

W. H. Northrop left Monday for Des Moines, Iowa to attend the convention of gas makers. He represents the village of Clinton, hoping to learn of some way to reduce the city gas rates.

P. Isham returned yesterday noon from Milwaukee where he has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. Fred Milthorpe, and family.

George Ames returned yesterday morning from Colorado where she has been for ten days looking after the ranch which he owns in that state.

Geo. H. Huber and O. L. Woodward finished filling their tax houses Monday afternoon and L. W. Wheeler has a large number of teams drawing for him and hopes to be able to continue until his large house is filled.

J. L. Scott is very feeble and is confined to his bed at the home of his son, W. E. Scott.

S. S. Jones went to Beloit yesterday on county highway business.

Miss Katharine Williams of the postoffice force went to Caledonia yesterday morning.

Wasted Hours.

The time of my life that I consider to have been wasted, from the intellectual point of view, was the time when I tried, in a spirit of dumb loyalty, to admire all the things that were said to be admirable.—A. C. Benson.

FARRELL CHOSEN STEEL TRUST HEAD

Succeeds W. E. Corey as President of Huge Corporation.

SELECTION CAUSES SENSATION

Judge Gary Issues Statement in Which He Comments Upon the Ability of Mr. Farrell in Most Complimentary Manner.

New York, Jan. 11.—James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Products Export company, the subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation which handles its export trade, has been chosen president of the United States Steel corporation itself, to succeed William E. Corey, whose resignation was announced a few days ago, in a statement issued by Judge E. H. Gary, chairman of the finance committee. The announcement of the selection of Mr. Farrell was made after the regular Tuesday meeting of the finance committee and was unexpected generally.

In connection with the subjoined statement issued after that meeting, Judge Gary said that all of the members of the finance committee had been present, including himself, George Baker, William E. Corey, Henry C. Frick, J. P. Morgan, Jr., George W. Perkins, Henry Phillips, Norman D. Reman, and Peter A. B. Widener. The statement reads:

"The finance committee of the United States Steel corporation after consulting individual members of the board has decided to recommend to the board at its next regular meeting the election of Mr. James A. Farrell as president of the corporation.

"Mr. Farrell has been the president of the United States Steel Products company ever since its organization in 1903 and as such has demonstrated great business capacity. He has been connected with the manufacturing and commercial departments of the iron and steel industry for more than twenty-five years and is qualified to fill the position."

Prominent among the reasons given a few days ago for the belief that the steel corporation would not soon choose a new president and that perhaps it might not again fill that office was the statement, founded on what Judge Gary himself said in his formal announcement of the retirement of Mr. Corey that presidents of the subsidiary companies had been found competent to handle all the details of manufacture in which Mr. Corey and Mr. Schwab before him had been so expert.

When questioned regarding this apparent contradiction in the selection of yet another practical steel man to head the corporation, one of the high officials of the company said that in the first place Mr. Farrell was scarcely to be considered in the same export class as either Mr. Schwab or Mr. Corey so far as the manufacturing processes go, and that in the second place there had been some changing of minds the last few days among the members of the finance committee regarding the amount of detailed executive work which Mr. Gary can handle alone. It has proven, he said, entirely too much for one man, and the selection of a new man for the presidency resulted largely because of that conclusion.

LANGFORD BESTS JEANETTE

Bout Goes Limit, but Decision Was Given to Langford.

Boston, Jan. 11.—Sam Langford of this city received the decision over Joe Jeanette of New York at the end of their 12-round bout at the Armory A. A. The men have met six times before, Langford getting two decisions, Jeanette one, two were no decision affairs, and the other a draw, but Jeanette did not receive such severe punishment in them all as he was handed by the pride of the west and in every round Langford punched his opponent around the ring, forcing the other to cover up to save himself.

BRIDE'S STORY OF CRIME

Mrs. Rose Picchione on Trial for Killing Husband.

Sobs Bitterly on Stand While Relating Details of Shooting Which She Asserts Was in Self-Defense.

New York, Jan. 11.—Mrs. Rose Picchione, the 17-year-old bride on trial at White Plains for the murder of her husband, sobbed bitterly in telling on the stand the story of the shooting which she swore was in self-defense. Several women spectators wept also as the girl bride told of spraying holy water over the body.

Rose spoke of the numerous quarrels she and her husband had had because of his jealousy, and then she related what took place when he came home and found John Canavan in the house. After the latter left, her husband said: "This is the end," and fired a shot.

She grabbed up a revolver and pulled the trigger, how many times she did not know. Then she ran into the home of Frank Morocco and said her husband had committed suicide. Next she rushed back into her own apartment and tried to get her husband to speak to her. She said she sprayed holy water over him and for the first time realized that she had killed him.

GOODWIN'S WIFE SUES FOR DIVORCE

Miss Maud Lannon, Chorus Girl, Named in the Action.

DEPOSITIONS ARE BEING TAKEN

Jack Harris, Chauffeur, Gives Sensational Testimony in Case, Telling of the Comedian's Escapades With St. Louis Girl.

St. Louis, Jan. 11.—All night auto rides with a Delmar Garden chorus girl were some of Nat Goodwin's escapades while playing a three weeks' engagement in St. Louis in the summer of 1909, according to Jack Harris, a chauffeur, in his depositions taken here in the divorce suit brought by Goodwin's wife, Edna Goodrich, Miss Maud Lannon, the chorus girl, 18 years old, 3537 Clark avenue, St. Louis, would sit in Goodwin's lap during the rides and he would kiss her and call her "baby doll," "love," and other pet names said Harris.

The depositions were taken in the office of John B. Edwards, attorney for Goodwin, behind closed doors, but Harris readily repeated his testimony to reporters.

Harris said he frequently took Goodwin and Miss Lannon out. They stayed out in Forest park all night twice, he said. One time they were unaccompanied, he said, while the other time Actor Raymond Hitchcock and a number of chorus girls went along. Once he took them to Cambridge Crest home, he said. Another time he took them to a hotel at 3 in the morning, he said.

Miss Maud Lannon is out of town, according to her sister, Miss Julia Lannon, also an actress, denied that her sister's relations with Goodwin were improper. Goodwin, she said, lived in a tent near the Comedy theater, but her sister never went there for more than a few minutes and then she generally accompanied her.

Herman L. Roth, of New York counsel for Mrs. Goodwin, at whose instance the depositions are being taken, says until four weeks ago he represented Goodwin. When he investigated his actions, he changed sides, he said.

THREE KILLED IN A FIGHT

Mrs. White Kills Her Husband Assassin During the Row.

Quarrel Over Business Results in Death of Three Men and the Mortally Wounding of Another.

Abbeyville, Pa., Jan. 11.—Three men ago dead and one mortally wounded after a fight near here. Those killed are Matthew Wilson, James Nixon and Noah White, N. P. Wilson is mortally wounded. All are prominent business men and up to some months ago were partners in the lumber business. Differences arose and White withdrew from the firm, alleging that he had been badly treated. Feeling had been bitter and the two Wilsons and Nixon went to White's home.

There were hot words at once and soon all were using pistols, including Mrs. White, who came to her husband's rescue when she saw him attacked by three men. It is said White killed Nixon and was himself killed by Matthew Wilson, who was at once shot to death by Mrs. White. It is said that Mrs. White fatally wounded N. P. Wilson. Mrs. White was not wounded. She and her husband were married only a few months ago.

Mrs. Cramp became prostrated and was not able to make a detailed statement of what had happened. A member of the family stated that it was believed that Mr. Cramp's death was the result of the accidental turning on of the gas, although it was admitted that the manner in which he was found might justify a different theory.

Human Interest Stories In a Daily Paper Are Found Often On the Classified Page

JOYS AND SORROWS, HOPES AND DISAPPOINTMENTS OF EVERY DAY LIFE REFLECTED IN MANY SMALL GAZETTE ADVERTISEMENTS.

Human interest, the telling of the day's tale, is not confined entirely to the news pages of a daily newspaper. Some evening after you have read the paper from cover to cover, as you think, just turn back to the classified or "want ad" page and read the little line-type or two into which are packed little sentences filled with the most of human interest.

One day's issue of last week contained a small ad: "Lost—A gold locket and chain. Reward." There is the making of a tale that might read like one of Charles Major's romances. The lost locket sometimes leads dangerously in the direction of romance. Recently an ad was inserted for the return of a woman's slipper which had been lost somewhere. This time an over-modest cashier in the newspaper office is trusted with the receipt and the safe return of the satin slipper.

From finery to fancy bred dogs is no jump for the classified columns to make within the space of a printer's stick. A white bulldog is lost. He wears a spiked collar and answers to the name of "Bunnie." There is a reward if the dog is caught and returned, the reward to be paid to the heirs in case of accident to the finder.

Has Its Serious Side, Too. It is not all dogs and duffy things, this classified page. It has its serious side, as serious as life itself. Here is one: "Lost—A pocket book containing money, checks and receipts. Big reward. No questions asked." Or, "For Sale—All my household furniture. Am leaving the city."

In over 75 cases out of a hundred, articles lost and advertised for are returned in most instances through the Gazette office. There are many articles reposing with the cashier now that have been returned through the lost column. From baby shoes to automobile tops is the scope of the present representation of returned articles. Watches, pins, money, fobs, purses and many, many more things have been turned in.

Woes of the Family Told. The woes of the human family are exposed to the light of day in the help wanted column. The task of getting help. Of getting girls who must be told every day just what to do. Of girls who become so lordly in their manner that they can no longer be retained. Of girls who have come from the farm to seek service and have found it through the medium of Gazette want ads. A girl is wanted for cooking. Not for actual cooking, but to do the cooking.

Autos and Other Things.

An automobile is offered for sale cheap. A horse and buggy are wanted for a few weeks. A piano and other pieces may be purchased now, cheap. All of these carry their stories of the shifting destinies of the human family. Keeping an auto is not the economy it was thought at first. A little flyer in stocks or a bit of easy money has permitted another family to indulge themselves in the luxury of a horse and buggy for a few months. A piano and other pieces are the easiest to be disposed of when times are tight and the financial shoe pinches this other family.

So it goes through the columns of the classified page, telling the stories of human life as it is seen in every day life.

REALLY Painless Dentistry

"Did you ever before have a tooth extracted really without pain?" said I to the pleased patient as she was leaving the office. "NEVER! BEFORE," she said. And that's the common thing with me every day. I really seem to satisfy people's most optimistic desires in the way of Painless Dentistry.

PLAN DISCUSSIONS OF CITY POLITICS ON FRIDAY EVENING

Old Commercial Club Have Interesting Topic for Discussion for Coming Dinner.

With the near approach of the eleven-month municipal campaign, the nomination and election of a mayor, city clerk, five aldermen and five supervisors, the coming session of the Commercial club at their monthly dinner at the Hotel Myers, Friday evening, promises to be an exceptionally interesting one as city politics is the subject for the evening's discussion.

Friends of all the aspirants for office will doubtless be on hand to say a good word for their favorite and it is barely possible that some campaign will actually be launched at this meeting by enthusiastic political managers. With the republicans, democrats and prohibitionists certain to have tickets in the field, and the possibility of a contest for the election of a municipal judge, the coming campaign promises to be a most interesting one.

Prohibitionists, it is understood, will also enter the field as a political party and have candidates for all the elective offices. This will make the contest a three-cornered one that should prove interesting in its results. It is also probable that the question of license or no license will also come up again this spring, but thus far no work has been done in this direction.

The coming dinner of the Commercial club will doubtless anticipate the formal announcement of many candidates and start the pre-campaign contest much earlier than had been anticipated, but it will prove an interesting meeting although it may be doubtful if it endorses any one candidate.

OVERCOME BY GAS FUMES LAST NIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. Josiah T. Wright Rendered Unconscious in Home on Mineral Point Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Josiah T. Wright, Mineral Point avenue, were overcome by gas fumes in their home last night, and as a result, Mr. Wright, who is over eighty years of age, is still in a critical condition today. Mrs. Wright has, however, apparently recovered from the effects of her experience. A household employed there was also partly overcome, but suffered no lasting effects.

Mr. Wright was the first to feel the effects of the gas. The leakage seemed to be greatest from the basement and as he was coming up the stairs about ten o'clock, where he had been attending to the furnace, he was overcome and had to be helped up a part of the way and to his room. Later Mrs. Wright also became unconscious, but before the fumes had taken their full effect she aroused the maid, who telephoned for a physician and later called Mrs. Edward Baker, a sister of Mrs. Wright. Dr. Fred Slater worked over the couple and called in Dr. E. E. Loomis to assist him. Mr. Wright did not fully recover from his experience at noon today, but it was expected he would, although he may feel after-effects for several days.

The cause of the trouble is held to be the chimney, which is thought to have forced the gas which should have gone out through that outlet, into the house from the cellar. The fumes were very strong and the gas seemed to have penetrated to all parts of the residence.

FIRE MARSHAL IS SEEKING CAUSE OF RECENT FIRE

Investigation Being Made of the Fire Which Destroyed the Fisher Warehouse on Monday Night.

State Fire Marshal T. M. Partell and his assistant, W. T. Doyle, of Madison, has been in Janesville since yesterday morning making a most exhaustive examination of the cause of the fire which destroyed the tobacco warehouse and contents of A. L. Fisher on Monday evening.

Neither Mr. Partell or his assistant would make any statement regarding the matter but it was learned that they intended making a most exhaustive examination of all conditions surrounding the fire. Thus far no plausible theory has been advanced as to the origin of the blaze which appears to have had its inception in almost the center of the building.

There was no fire in the building at the time the conflagration started and there was no electrical wiring in the building, so that it could not have started from that cause.

As this is the third large tobacco warehouse to be destroyed in Janesville within the past fifteen years, the origin of which was in doubt, it is probable the investigation will be most complete. In the fire of Monday evening the watchman was in ignorance of the blaze until awakened by others who saw it breaking through the building.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

A pair of sturdy youngsters with their skates along over their shoulders tramped past me on the street the other day, three words came back to me at which my companion and myself simultaneously turned to each other, smiled and then looked thoughtful.

And these were the words:
"But FATHER said—"

You don't see anything to smile at or look particularly thoughtful about in that? You should have heard them. It wasn't just the words. It was the tone of pride, the air of finality, of one who feels that he is saying the last possible word on a question. The youngster in the case evidently felt that he was settling the matter.

We smiled with pleasure at the little fellow's thoroughly unshaken belief in the word of his father as close kin to the Delphic oracle.

We looked thoughtful because it was borne in upon both of us what a tremendous responsibility that father and all the rest of them had to carry.

A rough old fisherman, who at about middle age, had changed from one of the worst drunkards and most worthless fellows in the village into a splendid man and a Christian, told me the story last summer of what helped start the change.

He was climbing over the rocks with his little girl one morning. The tide had just gone out and left the rocks wet and slippery. The father was walking ahead and the girl following. He stepped on a slippery rock and slipped a bit. "You must look out where you step, father," called the little girl, "cause I'm stopping right where you do."

The deeper meaning of that simple man's blow. "Why, mami, the sweet it came right out on my head when I thought about it," he said, and that very day he made up his mind that he must indeed "look out where he stepped."

Sounds like Sunday school fiction, doesn't it? But as a matter of fact it really did happen just about as I've told it. Fathers and mothers, doesn't the thought of your influence terrify you sometimes?

You've just got to look out where you step, for whether you wish it or not the little ones are surely going to step right where you do. You can't point out one way and walk another.

The law of "Do as I say, not as I do," can't ever be enforced in the home, for when people live so close together the "I do" is about one hundred times stronger than the "I say."

Fathers and mothers, are your thoughts, your spirit toward your neighbors, the spirit you create in your home, your habits, the tone of your conversation, your manners, your ambitions, your beliefs such that you are willing that your children shall "step right where you do?"

Really, it's an appalling bill of responsibility, isn't it?

The Katherine Kip Editorial.

WHAT DOES IT MEAN?
"He is a good fellow" says society of a young man, and that young man's smiling face is exactly upon the interpretation of the appellation.

"He is a good fellow." Does it mean that he is a profligate of his time, his money, his talents, his opportunities? Does it mean that he is squandering any and all of these for the sake of being a good fellow? Does it mean that he is using the money that should go to the support of his wife and children to amuse and entertain his friends? Does it mean that because the barroom and the cafe claim his time and the greater portion of his earnings that someone else is suffering want and sorrow? Does it mean that because he is a butterfly of the daytime, following first one social light, then another, and that at night he is a moth in the glare of the white lights of the gay and thoughtless, those who have a claim upon him are denied their measure of comfort and happiness? Does it mean that through his own actions and those of example he is leading others as thoughtless as himself to the destruction that awaits the moth that persists in staying close to the flame?

If it does it means that he is a curse worse than the plague in a century that should be the ripest, richest and most beautiful the world has ever known. It means that he is not only storing up sorrow and disappointment for himself here, but is helping others to bring down damnation upon the heads of generations yet unborn. Which latter proposition probably hurt him or his conscience the least bit.

What is more to the point with him perhaps is that he is sowing the wind to reap the whirlwind in his later days. The world is full of human wrecks who began life well but spoiled all by becoming "good fellows."

The greatest crime and folly of it all is that there are girls foolish enough to be attracted to the young man who has no better claim to notice than that he is a "good fellow."

To a certain class of young women there is some sort of association with the "good fellow" and blue lines out of ten are eventually found themselves married to him in a life of almost intolerable misery.

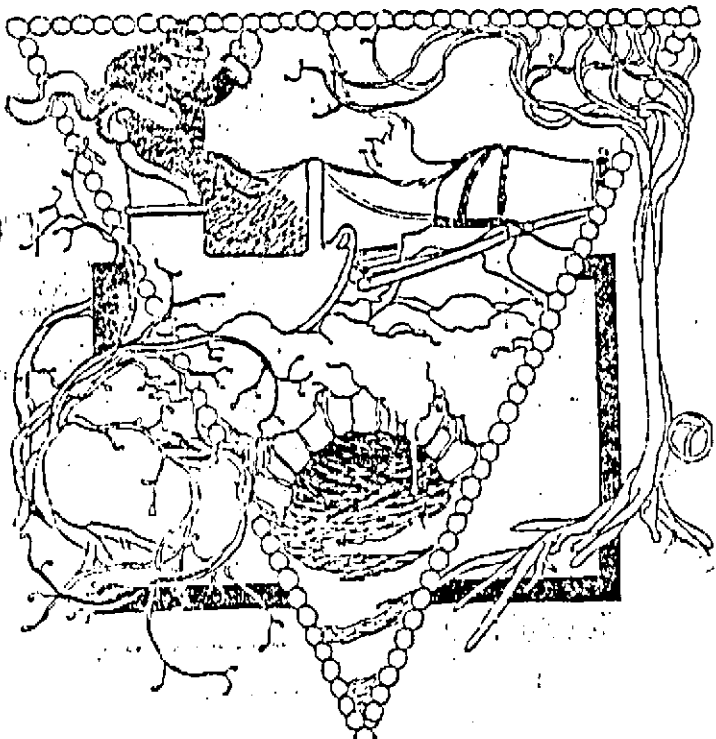

It is a duty every girl owes herself to find out just what is meant when she is given to understand that a young man is a "good fellow." If she finds that it means he is a profligate, she owes it to herself to drop his society.

If by a "good fellow" is meant that he is good to his mother and sisters and kind to his father, that he recognizes that a man's first duty is to make his reputation as fine as possible, so that the character he builds will be noble; if it means that he shuns the plague spots and has a real ambition in life, then he is the worthy companion of any woman and fit for the best of society.

Katherine Kip

Swiss Woodworkers.
In order to find the hereditary artists in wood by thousands we must go to certain little towns and villages in Bavaria, to the hamlets in the lovely Swiss valleys, and to spots of indescribable beauty in Austria and Italian Tyrol. In my wanderings among these "beauty spots" during the past thirty years, I have learned that—just manifestly the people who are born and reared in the midst of romantic Alpine scenery, so catch the keynote of sentiment from their environment, that they gain a faculty of expression which reflects what they see all around them. Many a mountain chalet in Switzerland is a genuine specimen of high art. Its balcony, its window frames, its fantastic carvings and its doors are triumphs of design in wood. They are the finest wood carvers on earth.

Naptha and Plutarch.
"The barbarians," says Plutarch, "to show the king his force and the subtlety of his nature, scattered some drops of it in the street which led to his lodgings, and, standing at one end, they applied their torches to some of the first drops, for it was night. The flame communicated itself swifter than thought, and the street was instantaneously all on fire." This shows that as far back as the time of Alexander the Great naptha was giving speed exhibitions literally "burning up the road." Old Plutarch tells us that this episode took place in the district of Ecbatana, where Alexander found a whole lake of this liquid speed-producer. He marveled, and the natives gave him the demonstration. —Collier's Weekly.

DOWN THE OLD LANE.
A frosty night and an old hobbleigh,
A silver moon to light the way,
A pretty maid sang by your side,
And a good old horse that knows no guide—
Ye gods, what bliss! Hurrah! Hurrah!
For a frosty night and an old hobbleigh!

Forty Years Ago

The Janesville Gazette, Jan. 11, 1871.—Jottings.—Things which yield to the influence of the mild weather are in a soft and shabby condition today. The thermometer indicates a temperature of fifty degrees above zero this afternoon and a spring-like feeling pervades the atmosphere.

The dime readings at the Court Street M. E. church, this evening, will be remembered. The object of the entertainment is a worthy one and the price of admission low, so that its payment would hardly cause a financial failure.

The masquerade at the rink comes off this evening, as advertised, the ice being in excellent condition, notwithstanding the warm weather. The identity of Johnny Allen's Negro minstrel band will be settled in a manner satisfactory to those who have been anxious to ascertain who they are.

The band will be present at the rink tonight in full force. Fun ahead! Attend the rink tonight.

Apollo hall was the scene of social pleasure last evening. The large number of ladies and gentlemen, girls and boys, who assembled within the room was convincing proof that even rainy weather and muddy streets cannot compete successfully with the attractions offered by the Christ Church Social Union. The exercises consisted of readings and recitations, ending with dancing, which continued until twelve o'clock.

Mr. Frank Jordan has established himself in Church's block, West Milwaukee street, and is prepared to give instructions on violin, clarinet, flute, and brass instruments.

The remains of John H. Wintermute were taken to Whitewater for interment.

Sample of Smith's Politeness.
A well-known New Yorker, now dead, who during his lifetime bore the appellation "Silent," was accustomed to employ various means to deliver himself from boring and time-wasters.

On one occasion, when the New Yorker was putting in his vacation in New England, there was one native so bold as to visit the tactless man at his bungalow.

"How did you get along with him?" asked some one when the bold one returned.

"Fine!" said the visitor. "Follows, I've often heard that that man was a silent cuss; but I want to tell you that he is one of the politest fellows I ever saw! I hadn't been settin' chaffin' with him more'n ten minutes before he'd asked me five or six times to come an' see him again!" —Lippincott's.

Obeying Orders.
King George V. is reported to be the author of the following: "I was at an informal tea the other afternoon," said the King, "and was bidding my distinguished hostess good by, when her little daughter, a child of seven or eight years, came forward timidly, looking as if she had something to say. She was a beautiful child, and when her mother formally presented her she curtsied prettily and said, in a loud, clear voice: 'I think your majesty is a very wonderful man.' 'Why do you say that, my dear?' I asked. 'Because,' said the little girl, 'mamma told me to.' —Buffalo Commercial.

Contagion From Cats.
Cats are subject to a form of influenza which is communicated to human beings, and they can catch it from man just as readily.

You Can Be Made Well If You Will Come to the Chiropractors
Every disease known to mankind yields to Chiropractic adjustments. Chiropractic is a science of old truths, the most wonderful aid to mankind in centuries. It's a new science that analyzes and locates unerringly the physical cause of disease, and provides a means of adjusting or removing the cause more promptly, radically and permanently than any other method known at the present time. These may seem bold statements to make. Yet there is plenty of proof to back them up. If you are sick and suffer, if you have tried the medical profession and failed to be cured, come to us. Ninety-eight per cent of the people that come to the Chiropractors are made well, and this notwithstanding the fact that 75 per cent of these same people HAVE BEEN GIVEN UP by the medical profession. Call for an examination and advice in regard to your troubles. Even though slight, they may be nature's danger signals of serious ailments. EXAMINATIONS COST NOTHING.

The Age of Hurry.
"This is the age of hurry, nerves and impatience," says a Paris letter, "and the number of people who object to a four-hour session at the opera, no matter how gorgeous the surroundings or artistic the performance, is growing larger daily. This is true of Europe as well as America." Cecile Thevenet probably had this fact in mind when she asked Paul Frank and Ma-thie to write an opera for her which might be produced in full in 20 minutes. The work has been accomplished, the libretto having been built upon an incident in the life of Cleopatra. The writer says: "The music is good, the dramatic action vigorous and the work, regarded as a whole, will be found a complete, enjoyable opera, and its rendition will consume 20 minutes."

She's Taking It Off.
Along about 9 o'clock every night, continuing till 12, a great sigh is heard, as if from many who have suffered long and at last found relief. Sometimes it comes from many throats, and sometimes, as the hours grow later, not from so many throats, but the sigh is louder, indicating that the relief is greater, says the Atchison (Kan.) Globe. It was a sigh of relief from women all over the world taking off their corsets at the close of a day.

Dave, aged five, who lived in a modern household, was taken to the zoo. He watched the camels long and carefully as they munched huge bunches of grass, and then turned to his mother.

"Mother," he remarked, "wouldn't Prof. Fletcher be pleased if he could see them chewing all day?"—Youth's Companion.

"I suppose you are proud of your wife's literary success," said the intimate friend. "Yes," replied Mr. Stubbs. ## LAW AND JUSTICE WERE CONSIDERED

AT THE MEETING OF THE TWI LIGHT CLUB AT THE Y. M. C. A. BUILDING LAST EVENING.

CRITICISM OF THE COURTS

And Public Officials By People and Press Should Be Intelligent, Not Fault-Finding.

"Administration of Justice and Respect for Law" was the subject for discussion at the meeting of the Twilight Club at the Y. M. C. A. building last evening. J. H. Humphrey presided over the gathering and introduced the speakers of the evening in a clever manner using several pertinent short stories. At the beginning of the program he said that he believed that some departure from the usual procedure would be welcomed by the members and he desired to introduce his daughter, Miss Ruth, who favored the club with an excellent reading.

In the absence of Mr. O. Mumt who was to speak on the subject "Should the Courts Be Criticized," H. C. Buell briefly considered the subject. "Our habit of criticism of all things public is not of recent development," said the speaker. "The storm of criticism which was hurled at the public officials and the government at the beginning has never been equaled since. Washington actually resigned, because this criticism was more than he could bear, and in the following administration the passage of the Alien and Sedition laws to prevent too much freedom of speech and of the press regarding things public, sounded the death knell of the Federalist party and determined how many would come from letting people say what they thought than from curbing them by restrictions of law."

"There has been a feeling that there was one department of our government which should be above reproach, but I see no reason why our courts should be set off with a halo free entirely from criticism. That the courts have not been criticized has been due to the fact that they have so conducted themselves so that there has been little cause for criticism. But on occasions when they have erred, people have not been slow to speak of it. At the time of the Dred Scott decision criticism wasn't spared by anyone and that finding of the supreme judicial body of the land soon became a war issue. It is not so much a criticism of the courts as it is that the courts so conduct themselves that the general public will have no cause for disparaging comment."

"Once multiplication of laws breed disrespect for law" was the topic discussed by Roy J. C. Hazen. He had been told, he said, that he was supposed to criticize the legal profession somewhat, but that was a subject which he could not treat adequately for several reasons one of which was the reason that George Washington gave for admitting he cut down the cherry tree and another that he could not treat the matter adequately without swearing which would be unbecoming.

"One criticism," the speaker said, "which was sometimes applied to the profession of lawyers, might, perhaps, be justly applied to the lawyer. This was that he lived in a sphere of his own, out of sympathy with those around him and too technical for the understanding of the ordinary lay mind."

"The reason, if it is so, that multiplication of laws breeds disrespect for law may be found in the fact that at every session of our Congress and Legislatures every member rushes in with a new bill. Many of these measures are inadequately and hastily prepared and apply only to certain local conditions. It might be better plan to enforce the laws we now have strengthening them in their weaker points rather than flood the country with a new mass of legislation in an effort to find a remedy for current evils."

"We have numerous examples of laws which have been unjust in their workings, inadequate and inefficient and consequently have been violated because they were not large enough to accomplish the purpose for which they were intended. A pertinent example is the recent law requiring the testing of cattle for tuberculosis which has worked hardship on a number of farmers without entirely eradicating the disease among the cattle of the state."

"We believe in the spirit of liberty and the rights of the individual and consequently we do not like to be hindered by a large mass of laws which necessitates calling in an advisor every time we contemplate some action. We believe in the spirit of democracy and want as little legislation as possible to hinder our freedom. A large amount of the disrespect for law today is due largely to the spirit of individual and corporate greed than to any other cause."

"We are naturally proud of our courts and legal system and I do not believe that the average citizen harbors contempt but, on the contrary, regards them in highest respect."

William H. Bennett, former district attorney of Milwaukee county, was the principal speaker of the evening and from his rich fund of experience treated the topic "Administration of Law from the Standpoint of the Public Prosecutor" in a very able and interesting manner.

"We Americans," he said, "are prone to let things drift along and are want to consider the administration of law as an automatic affair which will adjust itself to circumstances as they arise. Indifference of the people in observing the laws is the heart of the trouble which causes a storm of criticism and a mass of new legislation. Public sentiment is very apt to be dormant in the community until some flagrant abuse is discovered which raises the cry of maladministration, and clamor against the public officials and demand for new laws correcting the evils is the result. If people don't attend to elections and see that honest and efficient officers are placed in control of affairs they are bound to lapse back into previous conditions of corruption."

"When abuses are found haste is made to enact new laws instead of exercising care in the selection of the public officials. When abuses are discovered everyone comes in for his share of condemnation. The real difficulty lies with people who forget that they are the government and that the officials are their servants and unless they demand honest and efficient men for officers of public trust, matters are bound to grow corrupt."

"The Dred Scott case is an illustration of the way in which people will ignore the law and its workings, and it is surprising to hear intelligent people talk of him as a man persecuted. There has been a law breaker and an anarchist and he should face trial in the courts as well as any other man who has violated the statutes."

"The situation in Adams County, Ohio, is one which is before the public mind at this time, where two thousand men have been indicted for bribery in the last few years. It has been the result of a long term of indifference and lawlessness. The multiplicity of these cases help to lessen the usefulness of the offense. Too much prosecution is the worst thing that can happen to a community. The auxiliary work of abiding by the laws which the people fail to perform makes the burden of the courts heavy."

"In order to obtain the best results and secure a just prosecution of the law by the officers, their work must be supplemented by the citizens. As to the officers the judge must stand for the right; the district attorney must be fearless and upright and must know where to stop as well as where to begin; the jury commissioners must be intelligent, conscientious and unbiased; witnesses must be truthful and upright; the sheriff and his officers must be human as well as vigilant. People should not be content with simply criticizing but should speak approvingly of any good that is accomplished. The press in the same way should be moderate and give truthful accounts of court proceedings as they occur. The prevailing tendency toward newspaper tricks is detrimental to the best interests of the community."

"Present day tendencies are toward the reformation of criminals and the prevention of crime rather than toward the securing of retributive justice. The work of our courts and justice may be promoted by vigilance and interest on the part of the people. When criticism is necessary it should be of an intelligent and helpful kind rather than a fault finding. It is necessary to remember that the government is our government and that we are responsible for the officers we place in control of public affairs and that we have, consequently, a very important duty to discharge in respect to the enactment and enforcement of our laws."

COLLEGE FIVE WAS EASILY DEFEATED

Milton College Basketball Team Beat on 77 to 13 by Janesville High School Five.

In a game that was entirely too one-sided to be of great interest, the Janesville high school basketball team put the teaming on the Milton College Five, 77 to 13, in the gymnasium of the high school. Milton has always sent a very strong team whenever they have played here, and yesterday's contest was a considerable surprise. They were almost helpless against the advances of the high school players. Janesville played good team work while Milton seemed at a loss as to what to do. In the second half, Korst, Brown and Edler were taken out of the lineup of the high school squad and Mott, Patter and Cunningham, substitutes, took their places. The subs played nearly as well as the regulars and scored 38 points, allowing their opponents but 8.

Lineups for the game:

Janesville: Henning, c; Keel, rf; Korst, f; Cunningham, lf; Brown and Edler, rg; Edler and Mott, lg.

Milton: Noble and North, c; Nelson, rf; Crandall, lf; Sorenson and Ernest, rg; Pierce, lg.

Field goals—Henning, 18; Keel, 6; Korst, 4; Cunningham, 4; Brown, 3; Nelson, 2; Mott, 1; Pierce, 1.

Free throws—Crandall, 4; Nelson, 3; Keel, 2; Henning, 2; Cunningham, 1.

Gifts—Milton, 1.

SOUTHERN WIS. DAIRYMEN WILL CONVENT AT MONROE

Noted Speakers Have Been Secured To Address Annual Convention Which Begins January 20.

Monroe, Wis., Jan. 11.—The annual convention of the Southern Wisconsin Cheesemakers' and Dairymen's Association will convene in this city in Turner Hall on January 20, for a two days' session. A number of noted speakers have been secured to deliver addresses on cheesemaking and dairying and a great meeting is expected. The convention's annual entertainment will be given on Friday evening, Jan. 20. The Badger Girls orchestra, under the leadership of Mrs. N. H. Wieg, will be giving scenery of Switzerland, music by the yodeler's quartette and the "Harmone" male choir, are several of the attractions engaged for the evening.

Consider Uniting. A consolidation of the properties of the Monroe Telephone Company and the United Telephone Company, conducted as separate enterprises, is being considered by officers of the companies. A special meeting will be held inside of sixty days to determine whether action will be taken toward consolidation. The officers of both companies will again serve and also the same board of directors for the year of 1911.

Bank Elections. The directors and officers of the First National bank were all re-elected at the annual stockholders' meeting, with the exception of E. P. Treat who declined to serve as director on account of poor health. The condition of the bank was found to be first class by the auditing committee.

Large Enrollment. The enrollment in the Monroe Business Institute has now reached the one hundred mark. This is three lower than the total enrollment for the year of 1910. The daily attendance is the largest it has ever been.

Teahan-Whitehead. Miss Bertha Teahan and Mr. Ernest L. Whitehead, both of Cadiz, were married at St. Victor's church, Miss Corn Teahan, sister of the bride and Mr. Michael Hyland, acting as attendant. A bridal breakfast was served at the home of Patrick Teahan. The bride and groom have gone to Chicago on a brief wedding trip.

Duty Appointed. Robert Crow, of this city, has been appointed deputy sheriff to Sheriff Solbran. It was stated N. S. Durst would be deputy, but Mr. Durst is interested in the land business and spends much of his time out of the city.

GOT IT. Got Something Else, Too.

"I liked my coffee strong and drank it strong," says a Penn. woman, telling a good story, "and although I had headaches nearly every day I just would not believe there was any connection between the two."

I had weak and heavy spells and palpitation of the heart, too, and although husband told me he thought it was coffee that made me so poorly, and did not drink it himself for he said it did not agree with him, yet I loved my coffee and thought I just couldn't do without it.

"One day a friend called at my home—that was a year ago. I spoke about how well she was looking and she said:

"Yes, and I feel well, too. It's because I am drinking Postum in place of ordinary coffee."

"I said, what is Postum?"

"Then she told me how it was a food-drink and how much better she felt since using it in place of coffee or tea, so I sent to the store and bought a package and when it was made according to directions it was so good I have never bought a pound of coffee since. I began to improve immediately."

"I cannot begin to tell you how much better I feel since using Postum and leaving coffee alone. My health is better than it has been for years and I cannot say enough in praise of this delicious food drink."

"Take away the destroyer and put a re-builder to work and Nature will do the rest. That's what you do when Postum takes coffee's place in your diet. There's a reason."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in plain English.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

SORROWING FRIENDS FOLLOWED THE BIER

Late Henry Tall Laid At Rest At Oak Hill Cemetery Tuesday Afternoon.

All that was mortal of Henry Tall was laid at rest Tuesday afternoon in the vault at Oak Hill cemetery, to await interment in the family lot early in the spring. The funeral services, at his late residence, 527 Cornhill street, at two thirty were most impressive. The floral tributes from his sorrowing friends were most appropriate and almost completely covered the coffin of the departed. So many showed this last token of the affection in which they held the deceased that they were taken to the cemetery in a separate vehicle. The funeral service was read by Reverend T. D. Williams of the Carroll Memorial Methodist church and his short sermon on the life of the deceased was most touching. The esteem that the departed was held in by business men and friends was evidenced by the large number who attended the services at the home, many going to the cemetery. Friends and relatives from out of the city who were present were, William Smith and wife, and Mrs. Herman Smith of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Cox, Verne Cox, Lloyd Grimes, Mrs. Carrie Grimes, Verne Grimes and Mr. and Mrs. Lou Grimes of Rockford, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tall, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Tall, Mr. and Mrs. Craig, Harlow Tall, Frank Tall, Mrs. Phleg, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Conn of Edgerton. The pall bearers were Starr Atwood, Harry Claxton, John Hanson, H. S. Thometz, James Smith, Edward Enghelstrom and Frank Welch.

Does Not Strain the Eyes

Don't use a small, concentrated light over one shoulder. It puts an unequal strain on your eyes. Use a diffused, soft, mellow light that cannot flicker, that equalizes the work of the eyes, such as the Rayo Lamp gives, and avoid eye strain.

The Rayo is designed to give the best light, and it does.

It has a strong, durable shade-holder that is held firm and true. A new burner gives added strength. Made of solid brass and finished in nickel. Easy to keep polished. The Rayo is low priced, but no other lamp gives a better light at any price.

Once a Rayo User, Always One.

Paying the Shoe Bill Is a Real Problem

The average family man buys shoes for five people and with prices as they are and with the way shoes wear out—he has his hands about full.

The worst of it is there's no prospect of things getting any better so long as you buy the average run of shoes—made of trust-tanned leather and saddled with the profits of four middlemen.

Endicott-Johnson shoes are made by the only shoe concern in the world that tans its own leather—builds the shoes complete from the hide to your foot and sells direct to your home dealer.

Endicott, Johnson & Co. can save you from 50c. to $1.00 on every pair of shoes you buy—and give you twice the service and wear you ever got in any other shoe at equal prices.

The ENDWELL is their street and business shoe—$3.00, $3.50 and $4.00.

ENDWELL shoes embody foot-comfort with all the latest kind of fashion. You are not limited as to styles. You can get all the modish lasts—all the shapes of toe—all the colors of leather.

Look for the name stamped on every shoe—

ENDWELL BROWN BROS.

Shoe buyers who live outside the city where this paper is published can learn the names of their home dealers who carry ENDWELL Shoes by writing to Endicott, Johnson & Co., Endicott, N. Y.

The Country's Need.

"I say," said the old lady with the high-pitched voice, as the jerk-water slowed down at Grigsby station; "I say, what is all this fuss about educating boys to be civil engineers? The thing that our country really needs is a few civil conductors, and less noisy brakemen."--Lippincott's Magazine.

WHY SHE WOULDN'T WED HIM.

At a recent trial in Scotland, an elderly spinster was called to the witness box to be examined.
"What is your age, madam?" inquired the counsel.
"Sir," answered the witness, "I am an unmarried woman and I don't think it right to answer that question."
The judge interposed and told her she should answer.
"Oh, well, then," she said, reluctantly, "I am 50."
"Not more than 50?" questioned the counsel, sternly.
"Well, I don't know yet," she replied, "I am 60."
The inquisitive lawyer still further asked if she had any hope of getting married, to which Miss Jane replied:
"Well, sir, I wanna tell a lie. I don't hope you," scornfully adding, "but I widna marry you, for I'm sick and tired of your palaver already."--The Ditts.

THEIR COMPLAINTS.

The Furniture were telling their respective grievances against their master, who had come home the night before, much the worse for wear, and in a decidedly violent frame of mind.
"He put me down," besides fracturing a couple of my ribs," complained the Umbrella.
"Look at me," moaned the Door. "I'm all broken down by his treatment."
"He pulled my pistol just as he jumped on me," said the Carpet, "and filled me full of holes."
"He smashed me in the face," claimed the Clock.
"That's nothing," croaked the Bed. "He kicked me in the slats."

How to Be Miserable.

If you wish to be miserable think about yourself, about what you want, what you like, what respect people ought to have for you; and then to you nothing will be pure. You will spoil everything you touch. You will make misery for yourself out of everything which God sends you; you will be as wretched as you please.--Charles Kingsley.

The Forgotten Dramatist.

Is it not strange, remembering the "boom" that followed his introduction to English audiences, that I have already in an entirely "old on the shelf" How is it that these lovers and the "curious" cannot, in the whole year round, see a cycle of his plays performed in London?--Era.
